

The Campaign Against Political Correctness is delighted to invite you to a meeting in London with

The Rt Hon Ann Widdecombe MP

Tickets £20 including a free glass of wine on arrival. Discounted tickets priced at £17.50 can be purchased up to 12 July 2009.

What?

As a woman opposed to the ever-increasing march of the so-called “Equality” agenda, Ann Widdecombe MP is in the perfect position to attack political correctness without being labelled sexist. She is also one of the few MPs prepared to stand up and oppose political correctness and will share her reasoning for this at the event.

When?

Wednesday 22 July 2009 from 6.30pm (for 7.00pm) until 8.30pm.

Where?

The Rose Wine Bar, 35 Albert Embankment, London, SE1 7TL—further details overleaf.

Don't miss out and book now!

Tickets to be bought in advance of the meeting

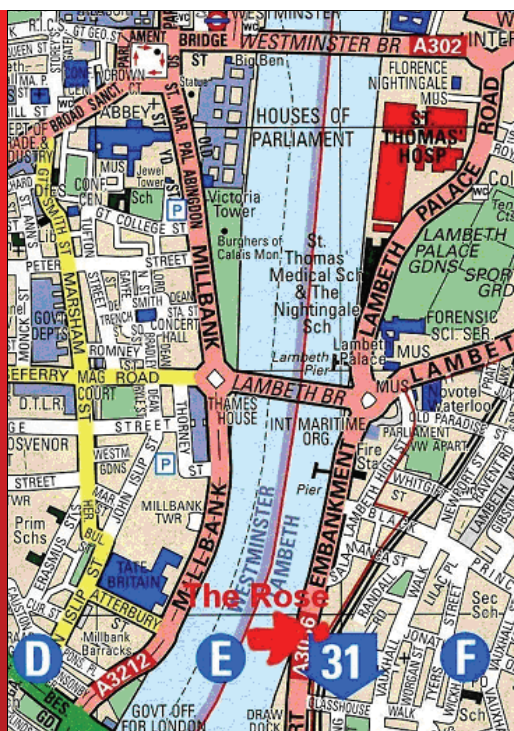

Venue Information

The Rose Wine Bar
35 Albert Embankment
London, SE1 7TL

The Rose is on the Albert Embankment (opposite Millbank Tower and Tate Britain) between Lambeth Bridge and Vauxhall Bridge.

From Vauxhall, take the road beside the river past MI6 and The Rose is on your right.

Please note that the event will be held in the upstairs room overlooking the Thames so there are a few stairs to climb.

Travel Information

The nearest overground train station, tube station and bus station are all housed at Vauxhall Cross which is a 5 minute walk from The Rose.

Vauxhall is on the Victoria tube line and 2 stops from Victoria Station.

Many overland trains from Waterloo and Clapham stop at Vauxhall.

There are also numerous buses to and from Vauxhall Cross. Please ask for further details if you require them.

Parliament is a 10-15 minute walk.
